BEING A SENIOR IS.

It's late nights finishing that last application,
Taking academic days off,
And fun during Spring Break Vacation.

It's getting your license or even a car.
Having the lead in the school musical -
Being the star!

It's tension the first semester and the second with ease.
Receiving a Senior Pass,
And taking your last S.A.T.'s!

It's finally knowing your way down the hallways deep and dark,
Ruling the school by being captains and leaders,
ON YOUR MARK -

It's giving out and collecting senior "pics,"
Keeping friends to last forever'
And getting our kicks!

It's getting deferred, denied, and accepted.
Being so busy,
And going to interviews calm and collected.

It's earning our latest curfew yet,
Going to parties and proms,
ON YOUR MARK, GET SET -

It's ending the school year in May,
Making up and breaking up.
How we can't wait for Graduation Day!

It's the excitement of ordering a cap and gown.
Wondering, "Were we once freshmen???"
It's the final countdown!

It's reflecting on memories with a mature, new glow.
And getting ready for our future -
ON YOUR MARK, GET SET, GO!!!!

by Andrea Bastiani

Congratulations, seniors!! The end of our RMHS career is finally at hand, so let's proceed into the future.

To help you remember what everyone was going to do, ("was" is the important word, for we all change our minds) Impressions gives each senior a complimentary issue of the "Senior Directory." This Directory lists all of the graduating seniors and their plans for next year. We have included the names of individuals who did not return our questionnaire at the back so that you can complete the information.

Note from the Editor:

For peace of mind when you are struggling in your future endeavors, please remember that:

"Life is moving very fast. If you don't stop and look around for a moment, you might miss it."

Ferris Bueller

And as we part for, possibly, the last time, may I just say:

"Live long and prosper."

Mr. Robert Quinn

DEDICATION

Dear Mr. Quinn,

The Class of 1989 would like to personally dedicate this book to you through this letter. We would like to thank you for being our friend as well as a leader. You have shown fairness and compassion for us. Your caring, honesty, and concern for others helped us to develop a deep and sincere respect for you.

The biggest contribution you have made to the high school is that you care as much for the school as you care for the people in it. The high expectations and dedication shown by you, because of your own quest for life long learning, have challenged us to be the best we can be, both socially and academically.

In the years that we have known you, you have always been a great inspiration. All the students at RMHS will remember your support at functions and events. We are thankful that, at any time and for any reason, you were always there for every student.

You are a true friend to all at RMHS, and the Class of 1989 would like to thank you and recognize all you have done by dedicating Pioneer 1989 to you.

Gratefully yours,
The Class of 1989

89. June 11, 1989 — Graduation

I remember my first day at RMHS. Freshmen.
A shuffling of feet, a slamming of lockers,
Parker meets Coolidge. There is a beep instead of a bell.
I can't recall ever being so lost.
Orange lockers and the Candy Store
Decisions, Intro. to Soc. and assigned studies
Hurricane Gloria, the Space Shuttle exploded.
It all became a part of us.
Anyways, we were there with mixed emotions.
Fear and confusion, yet, somehow mature.
But not really.
We forever watched the clock in anticipation of 2:08.

As sophomores we said goodbye to Mr. D'Orlando and Hello to Dr. Piechota.
Mrs. Burne adopted us, becoming our class advisor.
Now we picked on freshmen.
Class rings, semi - sweet 16, Bow Tie Day
We climbed the ropes in Gym
Our Semi - formal with the theme "Stand By Me"

As Juniors it seemed to us we were finally growing up.
Free periods, cars, the Jukebox
The Ski Trip and Boston Garden
Anything Goes (Almost)
"Never Saying Goodbye" to our Junior Prom
And gaining another class advisor, Mrs. LeClaire.

Then it came. Senior Year. We had so many expectations.
College this, College that. SAT'S, STRESS!
Senior Passes (like we didn't leave before)
The football team is in what place?
"Reading Teachers are working with No Contract!"
Halloween, Homecoming, and before we knew it,
the Senior Prom.

Now here we stand looking back at the 80's
A little less lost, afraid, and confused than the freshmen of years ago.
A little more mature.
We crossed the bridges on the way to a new era,
And burned them behind us.
Oh, how the days went by so slow,
it seemed as if 2:08 would never come.
But the years went by so fast,
And it will never be 2:08 again.

ODE TO A YEARBOOK ADVISOR

Neither rhyme nor reason have I for you for slaving 'way in this old zoo.
Where Murphy's king for he is law things more amiss than ever he saw.
If not for deadlines I would be a human being for all to see
In chipper 'n' happy form that's all be I when knells the long waited call
That frees my soul from copy and press
now seeking rest from this harried mess.
The pay's been low and the hour's been long the deadlines now met to a doleful song
What Sartre said for all to see
Hell's other people rang true for me.
But all now done and all now said yearbook's here, I'm going to bed.

The styles have changed, but the smile hasn't.

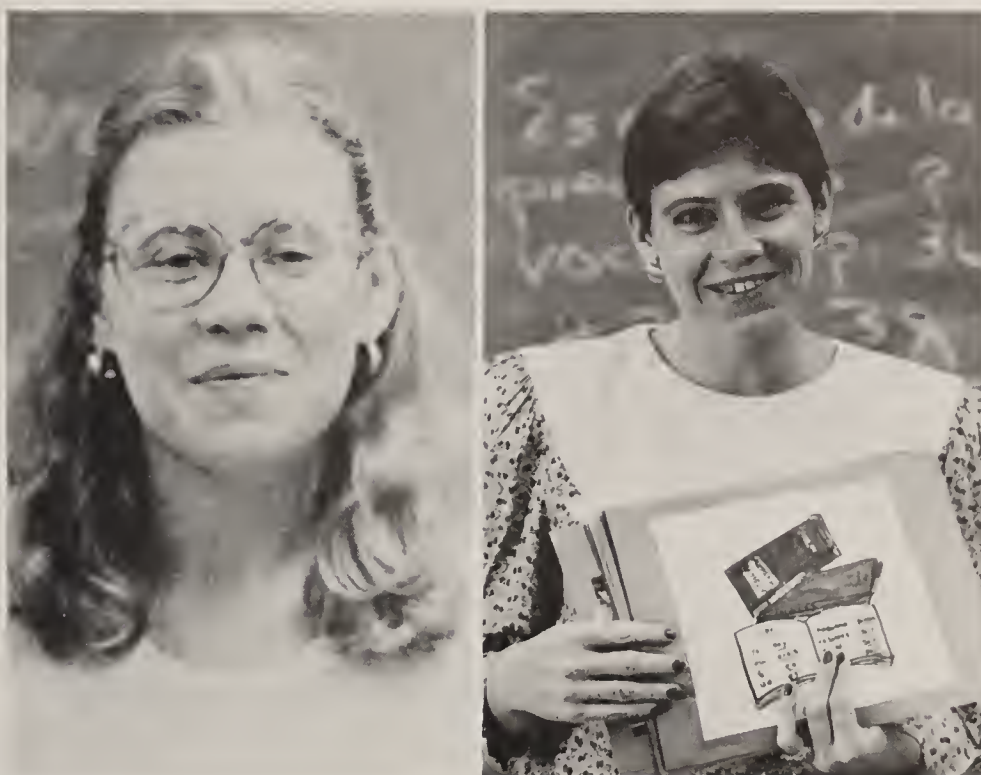

So many years, so many college applications!

I was cute then and I'm cute now.

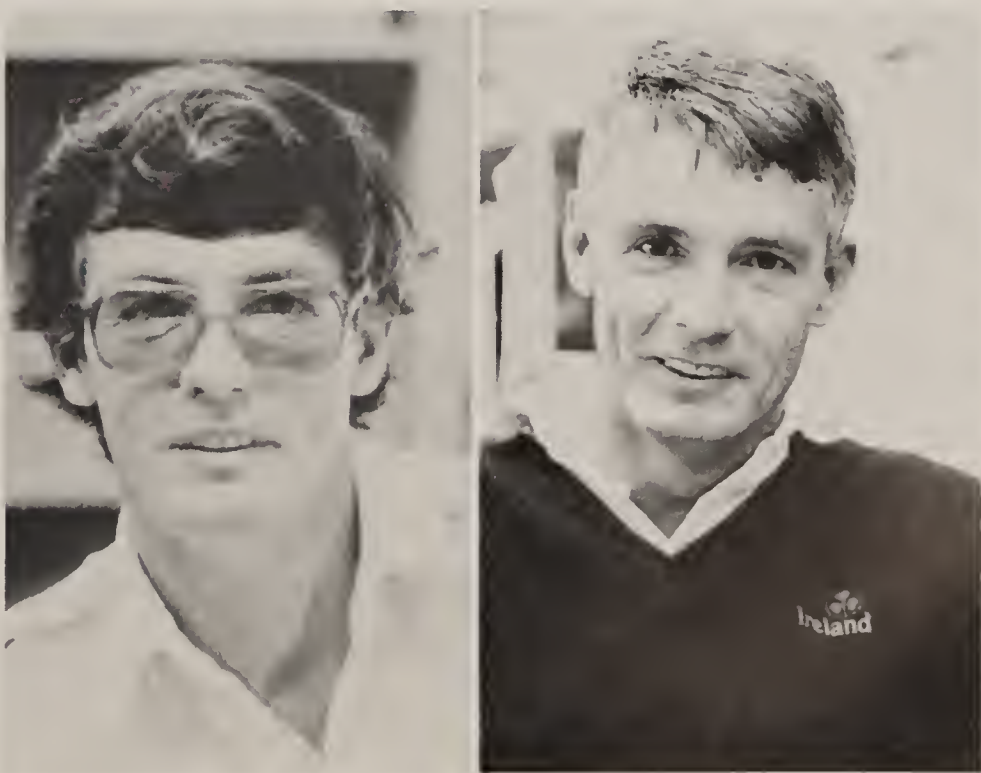

What happened to those long blonde curls?

I have one gray hair for each former student of mine.

Still the rebel, just lost the long hair.

Let's see, this job looks good.

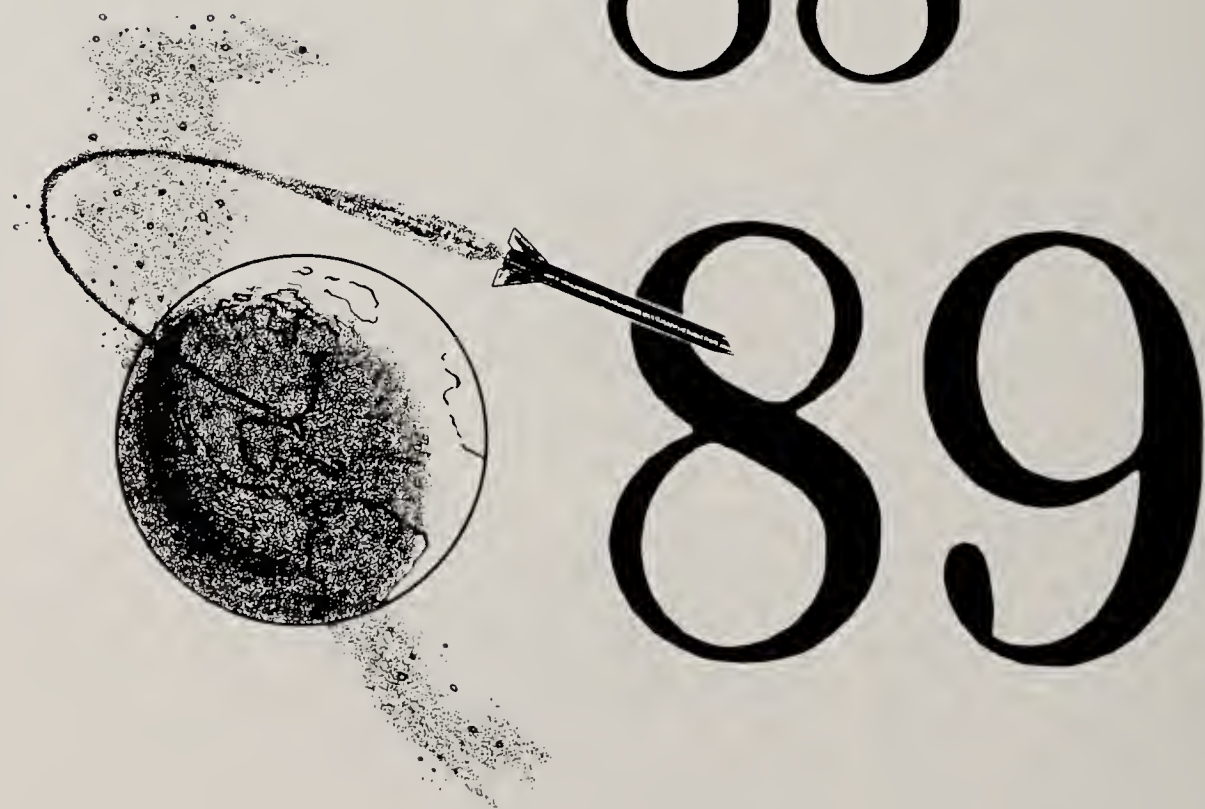

You want an extension. Why?

This year, the interactive video system was introduced to RMHS. This system allows a teacher in either Reading or Wakefield high school to teach to students in both towns simultaneously. The system consists of cameras and monitors in both Wakefield and Reading, so you can see what is going on in both towns. This year, Mrs. Healy taught French 5 to students in Reading and also to Michelle DeRaffaele, a senior from Wakefield High, shown on the monitor with Mrs. Healy.

This year's team was centered around the three R's, "Reading Rockets and Respect." At the beginning of the season, no one knew what to expect from the Rockets. After starting off with two losses, one to Gloucester the other to Belmont, the Rockets pulled together as a team, and with the help of Derek Watkins' school record 93 yard touchdown run, beat Woburn. This proved to be the turning point in the season. The team realized that they could compete successfully in the Middlesex League. They were no longer going to stand for being the bottom rung of the ladder. The next game was a hard loss suffered at the hands of Wakefield, but the Rockets picked themselves up and beat Winchester, Watertown and Burlington. However, losses to the Middlesex League powerhouses Melrose and Lexington brought the Rockets' winning streak to a close, leaving the remaining Thanksgiving Day game to decide if Stoneham would share a part of the Middlesex League title. The final decision of a 7 - 7 tie effectively kept Stoneham out of their title bid, and Reading still has not lost homecoming against the Spartans in twelve years.

The Reading High field hockey team, led by captains Annie Miola, Anne Jarema and Penney Alworth, finished the season with a 6-10-2 record. With fifteen seniors leading the team, the Rockettes played hard, aggressive field hockey, giving their all in every game. This year, Reading was privileged to have Captain Anne Jarema go to the Middlesex League All Star game to represent the team. Sarah Roberts, who had an outstanding season herself, got honorable mention, and the outstanding sportsmanship award from the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association was received by Captain Annie Miola. Congratulations are in order for Carolyn Morrissey, Michelle Christensen, Denise Miola, Anne Jarema, Sarah Roberts and Annie Miola who all received awards at the annual banquet for their fine performances throughout the season.

BOYS SOCCER

Led by seven returning seniors, the boys soccer team came up with an 8 - 8 - 2 season, putting them in fifth place in the very competitive Middlesex League. With captains Scott Burke and Jay Takach at the helm, the team upset highly touted Belmont, 2 - 0, and tied the defending league champion, Wakefield, 1 - 1, to earn respect throughout the area. This was accomplished despite a season - ending injury to Andy Ines, who was Reading's leading scorer at that point in the young season.

Seniors Rich Walsh and John Browne earned the position of first team All Star, while Scott Burke and Keith Walsh were named to the second team.

This was the first Rocket soccer team to achieve a winning record without the gifted Grubor brothers. It also represents the first team that has grown up in the Reading youth soccer program. It has established the foundation for Reading's emergence as an ongoing competitive force in the state's most competitive high school soccer league. Congratulations to seniors Eric Bennett, Jay Takach, Scott Burke, Mark Rigazio, John Browne, Andy Ines and the Walsh "brothers" - Rich and Keith.

This year's Girls Soccer team was characterized by its hard work, dedication and physical toughness. The girls enjoyed constant improvement and a feeling of comradery.

Playing strong and aggressive defense were: Lisa Hopkins, Alyssa Gould, Erin Campbell, Chrissie Burke, Sharon Valentine and Senior Joy Hibbard. Lisa was our Middlesex League All Star goalkeeper. Good performances this year also came from the half-backs, and the midfielders, who were led by Andrea Morello and Seniors Tricia Girouard and Pam Newhall.

Captain Erica Trulson, who was a Middlesex League All Star in 1986, '87 and '88, guided the offense this year. Erica is the RMHS career leader in goals, with a total of thirteen. Newcomer Dawn Woodland led the team in scoring this year, with an impressive seven goals. Junior Mary Connolly was also a scoring threat and added four goals.

The girls can be proud for always displaying effort, class, and team spirit.

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

Captain Paul Chisholm, Coach Ev Blodgett, Captain Ben Trevor

The cross - country team had a successful season, achieving an 8 - 1 record. For the second straight season, they were within sight of becoming the Middlesex League champions. Co - captains Paul Chisholm and Ben Trevor lead the team to a third place finish in the Catholic Memorial Invitational and a fifth place finish in the State meet at Franklin Park. Ben Trevor and teammate Sean Ronayne continued on to the All - State meet in which Trevor placed fourteenth. During the season strong showings came from seniors Jason D'Antona, Matt Lordan, Shawn Cavanaugh, Jeff (Jota) McManus, and Greg Hurst. No doubt, next year's team will continue the fight for the Middlesex League crown.

GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY

This year's girls cross country team finished fourth in a tough league with a respectable 4 - 4 record. Although the Rockettes finished with only a .500 season, all of the meets were hard fought and many came down to the wire.

The team was lead by senior captain Kerry Buckley, who proved to be one of the best runners in the league. Junior Amy Harootian had a fantastic season and finished eleventh in the Middlesex League meet. Kim Coakley progressed tremendously this year and ran with much skill and determination. Other contributors to the Rockettes success include Julie Crispo, Shannon Hines and Beth Tinney. They all competed on the varsity level and came through with crucial points in many meets.

As a whole, the Rockettes had the largest team in the league, totaling 23 members, including seventeen freshmen. The future promises excellent seasons to come with many young runners who will soon prove themselves in the Middlesex League. The team wishes the best of luck to the graduating seniors, while they are left in the very capable hands of co-captains Kim Coakley and Amy Harootian, who are looking forward to success in 1989.

GOLF

Captain Rick Morris and Coach Dick Gillis

The Rocket varsity golf team completed an excellent season this fall, by coming on strong at the end of the season and winning their last five out of six matches. Under the guidance of Captain Rick Morris and Coach Dick Gillis, the team finished a winning season with an 8-4-3 record for a .633 winning percentage. Their overall record qualifies them to compete in the golf state team tournament next June. The top six golfers for the varsity team will compete in a medal play qualifying round in early June, with the top teams advancing to the state tournament the following week. We wish the best of luck to all who are competing in the state match in June. Also, continued good fortune to the eight of this year's golf team members who will be returning for the 1989 Middlesex League golf season.

In their first year, the Reading High girls swim team finished the season with a record of three wins and four losses in the Middlesex League. The season did not start off well, with a big loss to league co-champion, Lexington. The girls improved their performance at the next dual meet, losing by only ten points to Melrose. The following meet resulted in the first victory, over Woburn, soon followed by a victory over Wakefield. The meet with Winchester was close, with Reading losing by only one point. Reading also fared well against league co-champion, Belmont, losing by only three points. The team finished its final dual meet with a win over Burlington. At the end of the season, in the league competition held at Bentley College, they finished fifth overall. Reading sent five girls to the sectionals competition. They were: Emily Gale, Jennifer Forest, Meika Driscoll, Gwen Olinski and Erin Croft. All in all, the newest Rockettes had an excellent maiden season. Assistant coach Hal Croft said, "They have no reason not to take it all next year."

This year Reading had its first ever Girls Swim Team. Its creation and success were the result of many hours of work put forth by concerned and dedicated individuals. Led by Mr. Kevin M. Flatley, a group of parents interested in broadening the athletic opportunities available at Reading Memorial High School first presented the idea. The proposal was supported by Dr. Munnelly, who gave the parents a chance to present their thoughts to the School Committee. The School Committee was at first skeptical, believing that there was insufficient interest among the student body to make the creation of swim teams a worthwhile endeavor. They suggested that a survey of students be taken before further action on the matter. Coach White organized a survey of students, and enough interest was found among the female population to warrant the creation of a Girls Swim Team. With these results, the proposition was brought back to the School Committee, where it was approved.

Since RMHS has no indoor pool of its own, arrangements were made for the team to practice at the pool of the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational Technical School in Wakefield. Equipment and uniforms were provided by the Athletic Department. The team, because it was not supported by the Boosters Club this year, relied mainly on the support of parents, students and coaches. It is to these people that the team would like to express their sincere gratitude, especially for moral support, transportation to and from before school practices, and clean towels.

As Rockette Swimming heads into the future, the process is now well under way to insure that the Rockettes will soon have a companion Rocket Swim Team. Good Luck, everyone!

The Reading High Hockey Team had a very successful and exciting season this year. With a record of 14-5-3, the team finished second in the Middlesex League and participated in the State Tournament for the eighth straight year. Leading the team was Senior Captain Kevin Thompson. Kevin broke the school record for most points in a career, was named to the All-Star and All-League teams, and shared the Middlesex League Most Valuable Player award. Chris Murray had a great season, scoring over thirty points and earning a place on the All-Star Team. Chris Hughes put in a fine performance for the Rockets, contributing more than twenty points. Other notable players included Rob Connelly, Rick Morris, Chris Allen, Dan Johnson, Paul Bordieri, and All-Stars Scott Wade and Frank Golden. The team would like to thank their coaches, Mr. Doherty and Mr. Bekkenhuis, and their many loyal fans.

While the dual meet record suggests a mediocre season for this year's Rocket Wrestling Team, varsity tournament play was quite successful.

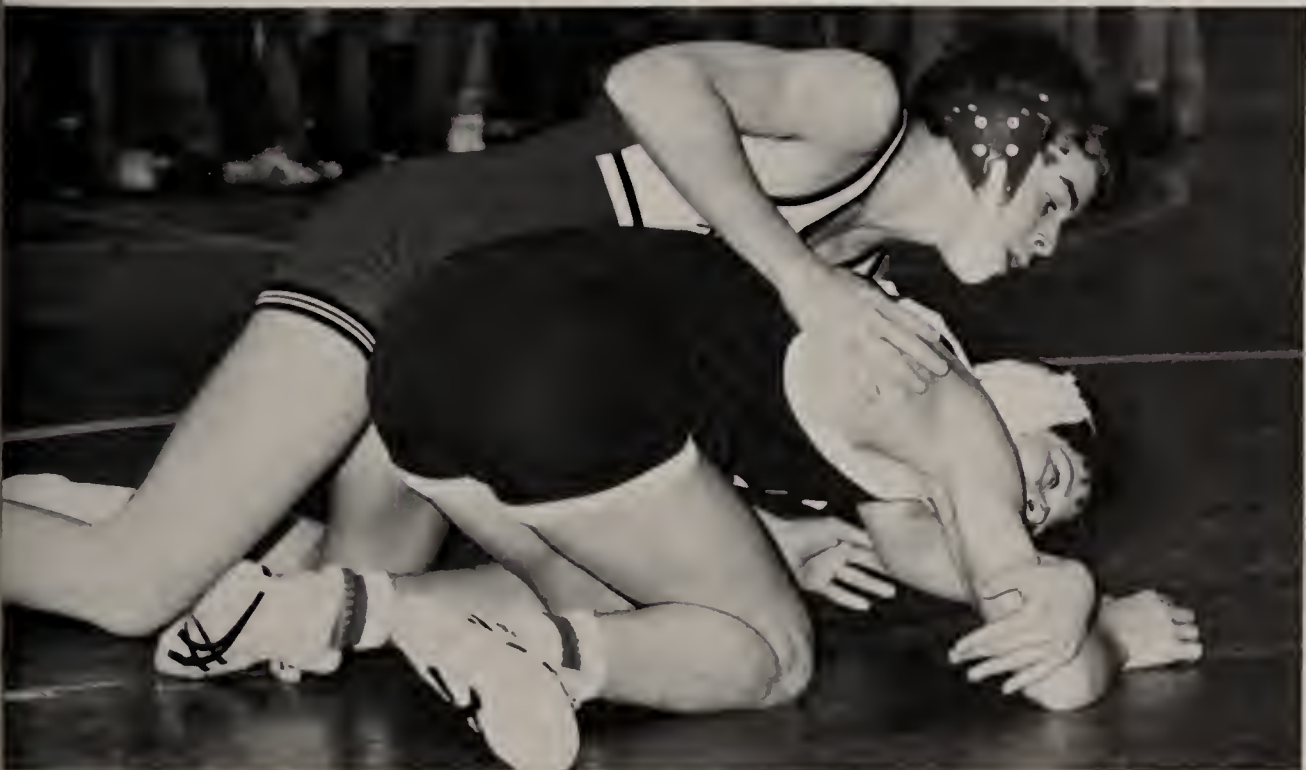

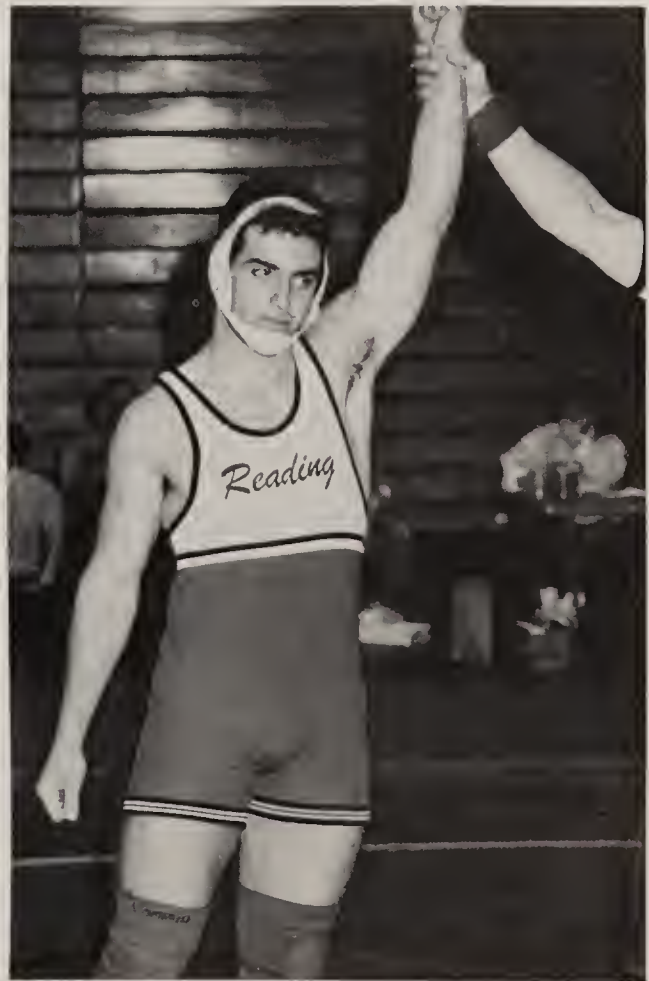

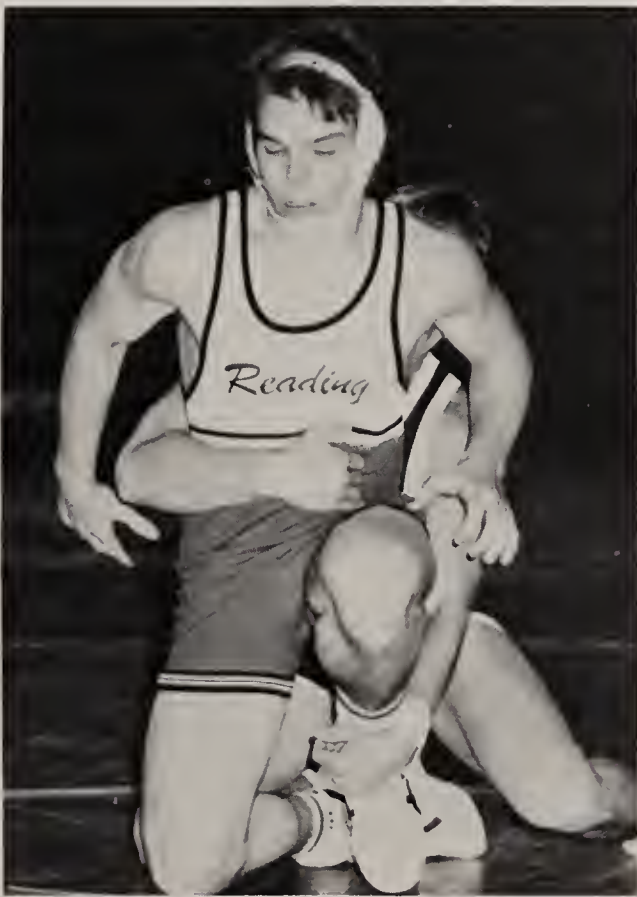

The Rockets shone in the tournaments due to experience gained through wrestling teams such as Lowell, Chelmsford, and Billerica. The coaching of Tom Darrin, Bill Hughes, and Jim Rosco, as well as the leadership of co-captains Greg Selvitelli and Randy Lloyd contributed to the strength of the team.

Senior Mike Trainor earned his third varsity letter by competing in the 112 lb. weight class. He capped off his year by placing sixth in the Division 1 North Sectionals. Senior Jim Linehan had a fine season in the 135 lb. weight class, earning his first letter. Mike Nikerson suffered injuries in the earlier part of the season, but came back to win the Methuen Invitational, the Middlesex League Tournament, the Division 1 North Sectionals, and to place fourth in the State Tournament in the 160 lb. class.

Randy Lloyd showed his talent as a four-year varsity letter winner by placing second in the Lowell Holiday Tournament. He went on to win the Methuen Invitational, the Middlesex League Tournament and to place second in the Division 1 North Sectionals in the 125 lb. class. Greg Selvitelli wrestled in the 89 lb. weight class, winning the Salem Blue Devil Classic Tournament and the Middlesex League Tournament. He placed third in the Methuen Invitational, second in the Division 1 North Sectionals and third in the States, which qualified him for the New England.

Reading High placed ninth in the State Tournament, showing that although the Rockets may not have had a winning record, they have talented individuals and potential for the future.

The boy's indoor track team had yet another successful season. Coach Hal Croft's team captured its eighth straight indoor title for the Middlesex League. After defeating league rival Lexington early in the season, the Rockets made quick work of foes such as Woburn, Stoneham and other league competitors. Tri-captains Ben Trevor, Sean Ronayne and Derek Watkins were vital in this successful season, as were seniors Jim Lomax, Kevin DeMoura, Paul Chisholm, John Fiore, Jeff McManus, Eric Bennett, Todd Wettergreen, Jason D'Antona and Matt Lordan. In addition to the Middlesex League title, the Rockets captured the State Relays title. In this meet, the Rockets scored a record 54 points by winning four out of eight events - the 4x50 yds, 4x220 yds, 4x880 yds and the Sprint Medley - and second in the 4x440 yds and third in the shot put relay. The Rockets also won the State Class "B" title for an unprecedented third straight year. The Rockets scored 54 points to runner-up Methuen's 38 points. In the All Class State Meet, Ben Trevor ran the fastest mile ever for Reading High indoors with a time of 4:22.0 and placed third. With the 1988-89 winter track season, the Rockets lived up to their reputation as one of the best teams in the state. This reputation looks like it will be upheld next year, as there is young Rocket talent which will continue Reading Track's winning tradition.

Despite their 3—5—1 record, the Rockettes had another successful season this year. Consisting of only a few returning varsity runners and several talented but inexperienced freshmen, the Rockettes rose to the occasion in the extremely competitive Middlesex League. All of the meets were very close, many “coming down to the wire” with the final race.

Senior Kerry Buckley was helpful in rebuilding the girls track team this year. Mary Connolly shone this year in her events. The junior track star placed first in the high jump and second in the hurdles in the All-State Meet. The second half of “The Connolly Sisters” team, freshman Danielle, is already becoming a first class sprinter. Also contributing to the success of the winter track team were Erin Croft in the 100 and the shot put and Erin Campbell in the sprints and the relay. In the distance events, Julie Crispo consistently placed in the 1000, as did Becky Sutherland in the mile and Katrina Bates in the two mile.

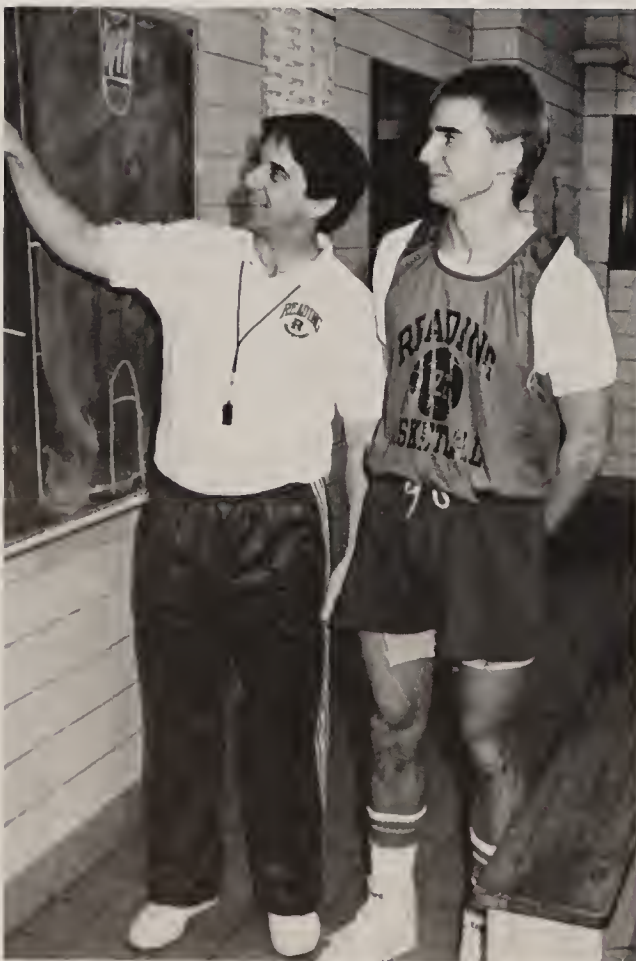

Next year’s season looks extremely promising for the Rockettes. With many returning letter winners, Reading will not be lacking in talent or experience during the 1989-90 season.

Lead by captain Bill Lafferty, the Reading High basketball team underwent a year of rebuilding during the 1988-89 season. Losses were many, but the two wins over Woburn, one over Stoneham and a hard fought game against Lexington salvaged an otherwise disappointing season.

The tough and physical inside play of Bill Scribner and Andrew MacDonald provided quality leadership for juniors Pat Dinino and Rick Corey, who will be catalysts for next year's team. Sophomore sensation Sean Garner learned his lessons well from senior guards Scott Burke and All-Star Bill Lafferty. Despite nagging injuries, guard Darnell Canada provided inspired defensive play. Another All-Star, senior forward John Browne, provided scoring punch as a long range threat from three-point land. Finally senior forward Peter Klepeis provided a constant spark from the bench.

The Girl's Basketball Team, led by co-captains Christina Mazzola and Tricia Girouard, struggled through a difficult season this year. Despite the valiant efforts of Christina Mazzola, Tawnya Lewis, Jen Hollis, Andrea Cashins and Kristen Manville, the Rockettes could not get much scoring done and had only three victories. Sophomore Lysa Stortz proved to be the strength of the offense, scoring most of the team's points. Tricia Girouard, Cathy Jarema and Jen Bowdoin handled the pressure of strong defensive opponents well. Lisa Hopkins and Lisa DiCicco consistently made key plays, both offensively and defensively, for the Rockettes.

The team had some shining moments this season, posting two wins over Stoneham and a win over Melrose. An outstanding effort against the League Champion Wakefield team showed the Rockettes have talent. With only three seniors graduating this year, the team should meet with greater success in the future.

When the Boy's Gymnastics Team kicked off the 1988-89 season by scoring only 78 points in a losing effort, many felt that a dismal season lay ahead. However, through hard work and determination, the team's mixture of experience and youth created the greatest turnaround in its history. The team that started off so poorly, ended with a spectacular win in which Reading scored 101.9 points.

Led by senior captains Guy Cammarata on floor, Dan Fantasia on rings, and Rob Howard on parallel bars, the team put forth a valiant effort. Strong performances this year were also put in by Steve Kiely and Steve Ryan, both of whom competed on horse.

Although the team as a whole did not qualify for the state finals this year, six individuals represented Reading. A highlight of the event was the sixth place finish of Dan Fantasia on the rings. The 1988-89 season provided that taste of success that should fuel the highly talented group of young gymnasts at RMHS in the years to come.

The Reading Girl's Gymnastics Team began their season with triumphs over Wilmington and Wakefield and continued successfully through the year. Their crowning achievement was an all time record high score of 114.05 points in their last dual meet against Stoneham. Highlights of the season included strong vaulting by Kim Coakley and Karen Parsons, Melanie Byron's well executed bar routines, graceful beam routines by Joanne Labo, and Katie Parsons' powerful floor exercise.

The team was led by performances from energetic all-arounds Amy Harootian and Lauren Daddario, captain Karen Carcia and seniors Jen Smith and Rosalee Barletta.

Renewed energy and spirit were brought to the team by coach Alan Beaulieu and assistant Joe Castelli. Coach Beaulieu is new to RMHS while Joe Castelli, a former student, was once a member of the Boy's Gymnastic Team. The contributions of these coaches, along with the talent possessed by the younger gymnasts, enables Reading High Girl's Gymnastics to look forward to a bright future.

Pancake Breakfast Deemed a Success

Stacie Driscoll

Thanksgiving morning at 5:50 a.m., while most people are dreaming of how good their turkey is going to taste, about 40 groggy Reading High seniors gathered at the cafeteria of the high school.

Why? you ask, well it's the annual Thanksgiving morning pancake breakfast. This annual event has been sponsored by the Reading Jaycees for a number of years, with the exception of last. This year, however, the Jaycees had some help. The senior class was right there wide awake at 5:30 a.m. — an hour and a half before the breakfast was scheduled to start. At 6:30 a.m., everything having been set up, the kids had a taste of their own creations.

Seven o'clock had arrived and the seniors were set for action. From about 7 to 8 a.m. was an easy hour with the line not being that long. Between 8 and 9 a.m. the volume of people had picked up and between 9 and 10, there was about a thirty yard long wait. Approximately 600 people waited in the lines to savor the fluffy pancakes, browned sausages, juice, milk and coffee that the seniors and Jaycees served.

There were several local merchants that donated their goods to this cause. Some of them were: McDonald's, Wayside Bazaar, Donut Maker and the International House of Panckaes in Stoneham. After the generosity of these people, and others, there was little left to purchase, so $1,100 was added to the Senior Class Treasury.

All in all, the seniors did a very good job setting up in the wee hours of the morning, taking shifts during the breakfast, and tackling the final clean-up around 10:30 a.m. Some very active seniors in the breakfast were: Paul Chisholm, Alicia Dangelmaier, John Karatheodore, Scott Wade and Dave Savio.

"The whole thing was great fun. We really had a blast even though it was so early," said one senior. "The whole class came together as a team to help make this thing go smoothly. That's what really made the breakfast a success. The pancakes really tasted good, too."

After eating all of those pancakes, who had room left for the turkey?

Thanks to the local merchants and particularly to the Jaycees for helping to make this a new and very successful Senior Class tradition.

The Age That Never Was

Rob Howard

It was February 13, 1975. I was at a party, my party. This day in history I officially turned four years old. Birthdays were usually a fun time for me; at least the three previous ones were. This birthday, however, brought a new word into my vocabulary. A word that would make the next few months an interesting experience. This word was "responsibility."

I lay in my crib the night of my fourth birthday and thought. Why was my family doing this to me? One minute they're giving me bathtub toys and birthday cake and the next minute they're telling me about this "responsibility" thing. I asked my mother what she meant by this. She replied, "When you turn four you're going to have to take some responsibility. This means no more using your pacifier. It also means you're going to have to pick your toys up and maybe even help me with the dishes."

It was a hideous thought! I pulled my blanket up close to me. The thought of dishpan hands at the age of four frightened me. Somehow I fell asleep that night.

The next morning I woke up and went downstairs to talk to my sister. "Kristine, why do I have to have responsibility when I'm four?" I asked. At nine years old my sister was the answer to every problem I had.

"I think forty—eight months is the legal limit for doing nothing," she replied. I thanked her for her brilliant answer and proceeded toward the kitchen.

After breakfast I returned to my room to take a look at my situation. I would do anything to keep away from this responsibility stuff. My first choice was suicide. I didn't know how to spell it, though, so plan A was out. My second choice was to run away and become one of those kids you see hanging around on Sesame Street. The problem was that I wasn't sure how to get to Sesame Street. Plan B was cancelled. What if I just refused to do these things? Of course! then I realized this wouldn't work. At only about three feet tall, I wasn't much of an authority figure. Being a four—year—old rebel was not the answer.

It suddenly hit me. The only thing that could stop me from taking responsibility was if I never turned four. This was going to be easy! All I had to do was skip four and go straight to five.

Just to make sure this would work, I talked to my sister again. "Kristine, do you have responsibility when you're five?"

"Yeah," she said. "You have even more at five than you do at four. A little more gets added on each year. That's how life works, Rob."

I thanked her again for her brilliant answer and hoped that I would know that much about life when I became nine. The solution to my problem was a logical one. If anything after three had responsibility, I'd just have to stay three for two years. Two was a good number of years because by that time they should have forgotten all about this dishwashing stuff. Plus, if I stayed three for three years they would probably start to wonder just what was going on.

My plan had to be put into action immediately. My grandmother came over to our house the next day. She asked me how it felt to be four years old. I calmly answered, "I don't know what you're talking about, Grammy. I'm only three." She didn't buy it. This was going to be more complicated than I thought. The only way out of this was to leave some subtle hints around the house. This would convince them that I was a year behind.

The first thing that I did was redo my birth certificate and put it in a place where it would be noticed. This place would have to be right to be just right so that nobody would get suspicious. So after I made the birth certificate I taped it to the perfect place, the windshield of our car. It would've worked perfectly, too, except for one thing. Being only four, I didn't know birth certificates were not written in green crayon. I decided not to leave any more subtle hints around. I would handle this just by insisting that I was still three. After about a month of this, my family began to wonder about me. They didn't know why I thought I was still three just a few weeks after we'd had my fourth birthday. They watched Donahue for weeks to see if he had the answer. They wrote to Dear Abby and signed the letter "Parents of a Lunatic Son." Even she didn't know what was wrong with me. Finally they sat down with me and asked, "Rob, why do you think you're still three when you're really four?"

The show was over. My family was curious and I couldn't keep pretending like this. I glanced toward the kitchen. All I saw were dirty dishes piled high in the sink. "I'm still three because when I turn four I'll have responsibility," I blurted out.

My parents looked at each other, then back at me. "Having responsibility?" they said. "That's what this is all about?"

They explained to me that you get to do more things when you're four, things like staying up a little later and flying free on Delta Airlines.

"Yes, but I already fly free on Delta Airlines, don't I?"

"It's more fun at four though," they answered.

I decided to give in and turn four. Many people have done it in the past, so why should I be different? It turned out to be a good decision even though I don't fly free on Delta Airlines anymore.

One Act Plays

Here is a reward for your loyal services.

Take that!

And they lived happily ever after...

If not for me, do it for your country.

"Shut and Bar the Door" was the Reading Memorial High School Drama Club's entry in the State Drama Festival for 1989. The play, set in Merry Old England, is a farce that follows the trials and tribulations of a peasant couple who get in a fight over who is going to shut and bar the door.

The play was a great success, with all members of the cast and crew doing outstanding work. Ellen Lucey was recognized with an award for excellence in acting.

BYE BYE BIRDIE

The musical Bye Bye Birdie was presented at Reading Memorial High School on March 30, 31, and April 1. It concerns the romance of a composer-publisher-agent and his secretary, as well as the drafting of his rock-n-roll star into the Army. In a gigantic publicity stunt they all descend on a small Ohio town and proceed to turn it upside-down. The results are hilarious and musically rewarding.

In four months time, roles were cast, sets were built, lines and choreography were learned and music practiced. Because of the huge amount of time involved, everyone came to know each other a little bit better. Everybody came together and pulled through the early confusion to prepare a fine show by opening night.

A great deal of gratitude is owed to four people who gave a great deal of time and effort to working with the cast. Mr. David Buntin directed the cast and the orchestra while Mrs. Kristen Killian worked with the cast, teaching them the songs and musical parts. Mrs. Dawn Coleford worked with the actors and actresses on improving their acting ability and did the staging. Contributing her talents for the first time this year was Miss Stacie Resendes, an extraordinary dancer, who did the choreography. All of these individuals have more than earned the thanks and respect of the cast and crew of Bye Bye Birdie. Their hard work and dedication helped make this year's musical a great success.

STUDENT ADVISORY COUNCIL

S.A.C. representative Matt McGee, hard at work with the School Committee.

Junior Matt McGee, Student Advisory Council President

Being elected President of the Student Advisory Council has given me the opportunity to work with and be a part of the Reading School Committee. This has bestowed upon me the privilege of representing both the students and the teachers of RMHS before the committee.

My involvement with S.A.C. has been a great learning experience, and at times, yes, even fun. It enabled me to learn how to address an audience. The S.A.C. representative is a sitting member at all School Committee meetings that are not contractual in nature. Because of this, I also learned how to be an effective policy maker, and to be considerate of the views of others.

This year, observations have been made and ideas discussed that will result in many long and short term changes that will enhance the environment at RMHS. The School Committee has been made aware of student and faculty opinion on all topics of discussion brought up at the committee meetings.

Although I do not have voting privileges, I feel that the fact that the School Committee is kept abreast of the needs and concerns of the entire population of Reading Memorial High School makes this endeavour worthwhile and beneficial for all parties involved.

METROPOLITAN COUNCIL for EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY

For twenty three years, the Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunity (METCO) has been working to provide the opportunity for an integrated public school education for urban black and other minority children from racially imbalanced schools in Boston.

Here in Reading, that goal has been accomplished and more. Our students from Boston have grown and developed academically, athletically, and socially. Through their friendships, they have helped to foster a cross-cultural awareness that benefits both the Boston and the Reading communities. They have benefited from the educational opportunity and have helped to provide a richer, more diverse learning experience for their Reading classmates.

As we bid farewell to our seniors, we must recognize the determination and dedication necessary to participate in this program. These students have negotiated a demanding daily schedule, rising at five in the morning and sometimes not getting home until eight or nine at night. They have learned to represent their unique background and heritage with pride. We are proud of them and their accomplishments and we wish them the best of luck.

The Reading METCO Staff:

Mr. Earscelle Wilkerson, Coordinator

Mr. Yves Denizé, Tutor / Counselor

Mrs. Elnora Jones, Elementary schools bus monitor and teacher aide

Mrs. Janice Chinn Green, Secondary schools bus monitor and teacher aide

SPECIAL THANKS

Two of the people the Class of 1989 would most like to thank are our class advisors, Janet Burne and Maureen LeClaire. After having adopted us, they provided the direction and support that brought us together as a class. They gave of their time, set an example of commitment, and provided an infusion of spirit that the class desperately needed. Our advisors promoted an atmosphere where the lively exchange of ideas between faculty, students, and members of the community was not only allowed but strongly encouraged. While there was not always agreement, exposure to and acceptance of new ideas and differing opinions brought us together as a class and made us stronger individuals. For this maturity we have gained, we, the Class of 1989, owe a great deal to our class advisors, Maureen LeClaire and Janet Burne. It is for giving of themselves in order to make us better people that we thank them from the bottom of our hearts.

Pioneer '89 wishes to thank Mr. Ron Howland for graciously playing the straight man in our many gags. The laughter he provided was one of the few things that kept us sane.

Bob Donovan has contributed to Pioneer '89 through his photos, layout and design skills. He has dedicated many hours to insure the success of this book. The staff of Pioneer '89 thanks Mr. Donovan and wishes him luck next year as he becomes the lone year-book advisor.

Dear Fellow Graduates,

The theme of this book, "Then and Now", has given the editorial staff of Pioneer a chance to reminisce about all of the changes that have become apparent in our lives. Throughout the preparation for this book, we took a nostalgic trip that was inspired by the many memories of our past. It was funny to think about how different we were when we were freshmen.

The eighties have come and gone, and we are the sum total of our experiences. Let's face it, we are the eighties and the eighties are us. Each event, either personal or global, has shaped our existence in some way or another. The memories are mixed but the reality is now. It is our turn to make a difference. So, take a moment and remember the past, for the future is ours to create.

Respectfully yours,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Gina M. Silva". The signature is fluid and elegant, with the first letters of each word being capitalized and prominent.

MASTERS OF THE ART OF MONEY.

If banking is an art, few institutions in Massachusetts are better at its mastery than MASSBANK For Savings.

Because no one knows or cares more about the financial well being of our communities or its citizens than the people who are MASSBANK.

Now that that's settled, let's talk about the art of mastering your money.

The State of the Art.
